Sale Report

Rediscovery Sale, Wednesday 7th August 2019

The sale was a bit quieter than some, but not without good results: these novelty vintage alarm clocks sold in two lots making £340 between them ~ good news for the vendor who has a few more in this week's sale. A small oil on canvas landscape by de Breanski, bought from a colleague's grandfather's auction in the 1980s made £110. Records continue to give good returns, with three lots making £360 among them ~ however, for anyone about to empty their stereo cabinet, I doubt these were 1960s easy listening. We haven't seen many diecast toys recently, however a box of boxed and loose diecast made £120. There was a compact furniture selection where pine led the way, and a good deeply carved Burmese table made £55.
